

BUSINESS CONSULTANCY: ULTIMA OVERVIEW

At Ultima, we can help to translate your business requirements into actionable insights. The primary role of the IT function and the technology implemented is to support your organisation, not vice versa. Through our business consultancy, we can help your operation, finance and IT teams work in sync, to hit your overarching KPIs. Regardless of where you are on your cloud journey, be it through process changes, people enablement, or the technology itself, Ultima are ready to help you.

Ultima IT & Technology
Advisory

Focused IT spend, improved planning, richer capability and more

"When devising a transformation project or a technology strategy, businesses often take inspiration from modern trends as well as competition. What we are however seeing is they often fail to account for the way their business works, for the culture and the heritage. Basically, for the things that make the business what it is today. Our focus is to leverage the understanding of those elements as well as our experience and put them into a digital perspective."

Michal Minarik, Practice Lead - Business Consultancy, Ultima

We have a team of over 200 experts who have years of experience across a broad spectrum of industries and technologies. We can help you realise your goals, as we know what works, what doesn't, and we can help you turn your vision into a success. Whether you're considering a change of technology, change of process, or a significant shift in corporate culture, we can help you to plan and execute that change. Our advisory services can be broken down into the following areas:
